Dario has always found inspiration for his art in the animal kingdom. Starting when he was young he doodled images of cartoons and animals which developed into a passion for wildlife art. He was prompted to follow his passions by family and teachers and so he gained a Diploma of Graphic Design from the Southbank Institute of Technology to better understand art and popular art forms

A successful artist, Dario has had his art on display at the Ipswich Art Society Exhibition, the Korumburra art exhibition and the Goondiwindi Art Society Exhibition as well as achieving first place at the Mary Ryan Bookshop Competition and highly commended in the Mattara Art Prize.

Still finding inspiration from the old master artists and modern artists such as Raymond Harris-Ching and Rod Lawrence, Dario now freelances as a designer, illustrator and painter through his website The Art Faction where his services are offered to the wider public for commission.
